Exit Red Team . . .

Tomorrow McGill's grid team winds up its schedule. It has not been too happy a schedule. There are some people who blame that on the team and there are others who smile knowingly and say simply, "Breaks". Neither attitude is far wrong. The Redmen were badly outplayed by Varsity in the opener. They had little difficulty in taking Queen's at Kingston. They outplayed the Mustangs for half the game at London. They outplayed the Mustangs for about three-quarters of the game down here. And last week they folded up against the Gaels. So now the league standing finds two teams which are both really good sharing the cellar. Until tomorrow. . . .

Things to Come . . .

Next year McGill may not win the title but I'll stick my scrawny neck out and say that there will be a title the year after that, providing things are not too badly disrupted in the sport world. This year six Redmen will be lost through graduation. There will be many replacements from the ranks of the Freshmen and Q.R.F.U. teams, both of which are promising. And in two years. . . .

Portrait of Lady Luck . . .

Speaking of breaks brings to mind the case of one Chuck Smith, who was headed for his biggest season. But a knee injury early in the term developed into prepatellar bursitis which even without its technical name can be pretty persistent. And there is another gridder who was headed for a great season but who was frowned on by Lady Luck. He's a quiet, retiring sort of chap and his name is Perry Foster. Last season Foster came up against Herbie Westman, and this year against a side injury. Both of which kept him on the sidelines for most of the football season. Foster still has two years at McGill, but Smith won't be getting another chance to star. He graduates this spring. . . .

Rumours, Unconfirmed . . .

We have it from unusually unreliable sources that the Kingston Fire Department has been working overtime all week hosing the field at Richardson Stadium. It seems that everybody has the idea that Western can only be beaten on a sloppy field. That hypothesis has never been disproved, because the Mustangs have not as yet come up against a really gooey gridiron. When and if they do anything will happen. It is difficult and dangerous to toss forwards recklessly in a downpour with a soggy footing underneath. And that is the only department in which the Mustangs have been head and shoulders above the other colleges.

Tribute to the Tricolour . . .

The Gaels, to which the adjective galloping is usually affixed, are only four games behind the Mustangs. Most people don't realize that that is quite a feat, because this year they are working under a new coaching staff and a new coaching system. Frank Tyndall, the head coach, is a lanky chap with a pleasant manner and the kind of features that bring to mind Dick Tracy. And as a result of his methods the Gaels look like a new team. They fight as hard as they ever did under Ted Reeve, but with a cleaner sort of fight. . . . With due apologies. . .

ROTHNEY TALKS ON EDUCATION AND ATTITUDES

Addresses Third Meeting of Student Lecture Series

THREE MORE SPEECHES

Speaker Holds Youth Training As Vital to Living

"In starting over, my attitude towards education would be not as a preparation for life but as training in living," said Dr. W. O. Rothney of Bishop's College, addressing the third meeting of the Student Lecture Series in Cheyney Hall of Erskine and American Church last night. The speaker was introduced by Prof. Huskins head of the McGill Department of Genetics.

Dr. Rothney's address, "Education—a matter of attitudes" has been preceded during the last month by talks on other aspects of education, given by Dean Hendel and Rabbi Eisendrath, and will be followed by three more lectures at intervals of two weeks.

"I look upon education", said Dr. Rothney, "as something that takes place inside the individual. It is a change. To live well is to change often. But changes are modified by the condition, under which they take place, by the environment. When we go to work to arrange these changes, to control the environment, we are teaching," he said. "Education is a scientifically directed process of developing personality.

Three Factors to Education.

"The three main factors of education are knowledge, skill, and attitudes, named in the order of increasing importance, for, to the educationist of today attitude is primary, while knowledge is chiefly a tool. Attitudes he continued determine what you are going to do and how hard you are going to do

REVUE ANNOUNCES CHORUS TRYOUTS

Skits and Music Still Wanted By Revue Executive

The Red and White Revue of 1940 does not go on the boards until the first week in March, but from Revue headquarters comes word that work is well under way. A call has already been broadcast for skits and music, and work is now due to start on the chorus. The producer asks all those interested in working on this year's chorus to report to the Union Ball Room any time Monday or Wednesday afternoon of next week. This invitation includes all those who have any special ability for an individual dancing turn such as ballet or tap dancing. The Revue executive will be on hand all afternoon on both days to interview those who would like to try out.

Actual chorus work will start on Monday the 20th of November and will be once more under the direction of Alan Murray. Monday's and Wednesday's gatherings will be more in the nature of organization

HISTORICAL CLUB TO HEAR FASCISM TALK

"Economic and Political Roots of German Fascism" will be the name of the first address to be delivered this season before the historical Club, meeting at the home of Dr. Bayley, 554 Prince Arthur St.—Apt. 1, 8 o'clock Sunday evening. The speaker, Reginald Louthood, a former president of the Social Problems Club, and Chairman of the McGill Student Assembly, has completed historical investigations concerning present-day Germany.

First year History students will have an opportunity of winning a gift of books, awarded by the executive to the freshman member of the club who places first in his History exams.

This policy will be continued up to the annual spring banquet when Royal Victoria College Historical Club joins forces with the McGill Historical Club.

NATIONAL DRIVE BEGINS MONDAY

Red Cross Sets $3,000,000 As Total Objective

Two-Thirds of Money Needed For Wartime Service

With a National objective of $3,000,000 the campaign of the Canadian Red Cross Society gets under way on Monday, November 13th. Two thirds of the national objective is needed for wartime service, while approximately one third is needed to carry on the regular program of constructive work.

Under the joint chairmanship of Messrs. R. J. Jellett and J. Henri Labelle, the Campaign will wind up its activities on Nov. 21st. A number of members of the staff and friends of the University are interested in the campaign and it is expected that during the progress of the drive a number of McGill students will be canvassed.

The government relies on the Red Cross in time of war, as it supplies material needs and services to the Canadian forces. In addition to the ordinary needs of peace time the advent of war has created a special need in that the Red Cross must be prepared to offer its services to the Canadian division that is now training to go overseas, and to the other divisions that are expected to follow. In addition about nine per cent of the national objective will be kept in reserve to meet any emergencies which may arise due to the state of war now in existence.

Among the functions of the Red Cross made necessary in war time are the providing of medical supplies and the maintenance of ambulance and auxiliary services. In addition the Red Cross builds and equips hospitals, recreation rooms, for Canadian soldiers and provides extra comforts for soldier patients.

GRAD STUDENTS TO HOLD DANCE

Strathcona Hall Scene of November Informal

At a meeting of the Graduate Students' Society held yesterday in the main lecture room of the Chemistry and Mining Building, the Social Activities Committee announced that the Society's first informal dance will be held in Strathcona Hall near the end of the month. The date as yet is not definite, but will be announced during the coming week. Dancing will be to the tempo of a nickleodian and the price of admission including 'eats' twenty-five cents per couple.

At the opening of the meeting, an invitation was extended to the Society by Reg Louthood, of the Social Problems Club, to elect a representative to the Students' Scholarship Committee. The offer was declined, however, the majority of the members voting that the Society restrict its activities to sports and social gatherings.

Audience Decides a Draw In Debate on the C.O.T.C.

Commerce Speakers Argue Whether C.O.T.C. Training Should Be Compulsory Under Present Conditions or Not

At the Commerce Debating Society meeting yesterday, a new form of judging a debate by the audience came into effect, but by the consent of those present it was decided to call the decision a draw. The topic of the debate was "Resolved that C. O. T. C. training should be compulsory under present conditions." The four speakers were, pro, Fred Selhany, B. J. Finestone, con, Jim Fitzpatrick, Frank Norton.

When the Chairman, Tom Daly, called the meeting to order he said that the newly organized society had been formed to help new students to come among friends and to give their own views.

No decision was given, because either way it might create a false impression on the downtown newspapers. Such a decision would mean that it was given not only by students, but by McGill itself, and as there was not a representative enough body there such a final word could not be given.

The first speaker of the affirmative, Fred Selhany, stressed the fact that it was the political and social obligation of each student to join the C.O.T.C., and that "to militate effectively there must be compulsory military training." B. J. Finestone, the second affirmative speaker stated that his belief in the fact that "preparedness" is the word, and that "inevitably Britain will have to draw on the Empire, therefore it ought to be compulsory that men train in the C.O.T.C. in order to become good leaders."

The first speaker for the negative, Jim Fitzpatrick, said "the way Canada can back Britain is in her production of foodstuffs and instruments of war. There is a need of extra material. To maintain Canada's production you need trained men. The cream of brain power goes to the university, therefore they must stay at home." Britain does not need men at this time.

The second speaker on the negative side Frank Norton, said, "Conscription means that a man is forced to do something he doesn't want to do, therefore he won't be any good. Col. Bovey said once that 'a conscripted soldier is a poor

FRENCH NIGHT AT OPEN HOUSE

Inter-Racial Co-operation, Understanding to Be Discussed

Rev. E. C. Amaron Will Address Chapel Service in Divinity Hall Sunday

Understanding the French Canadian will be the theme of the S. C. M. Open House which is being held at Strathcona Hall Sunday at 8.45, following the Chapel Service at Divinity Hall. The meeting, which will be chaired by Louis Gravel, will discuss ways and means by which French and English speaking students can co-operate. An attempt will be made to lay the foundations for a better knowledge between the two groups, and to discover what the aims and ideals of French and English speaking students are, and what common interests they have.

There will be an exhibition of French Canadian paintings, and a number of songs, typically French Canadian will be sung. A new game for mixing up the group in a social way will be played, and refreshments will be served.

Immediately before the Open House the S. C. M. will hold a Chapel Service in Divinity Hall beginning at 7.30. The theme of the service will be "Loyalty in a world of Conflict." The Rev. Errol C. Amaron, M.A., a former McGill student and one time president of the Students' Society, will give the address.

PROGRAM FOR CIRCLE PLANNED

Prof. Reilly Will Address Maccabean Circle

Final Arrangements For Future Social to Be Discussed

The Maccabean Circle will hold its second meeting of the current season in the Reading Room of the Union at 3 p.m. on Sunday with Professor Reilly as guest speaker. At this meeting the program for the forthcoming year will be discussed and decided upon by the members at large. Plans for a social that will take place later in the year will be brought forward by the executive for ratification by the members.

Many noted speakers are expected to address the group, among whom are Christopher Ellis and Cory Thompson, the "Uncle Troy" of radio fame.

Prof. Reilly of the Physics department will be the guest speaker at the current meeting. His topic will be "Noise Abatement." Prof. Reilly has been much interested in this subject for the past few years, and has conducted many reaserchs into the problem. His radio talks last year were well-known to the public, and have created much interest in the subject. A quieter, more pleasant Montreal in which to live, work, and study is Prof. Reilly's aim.

Professor Gerald Cragg On Torpedoed "Athenia"

By E. S.

Mr. Gerald Cragg, M.A., the new Professor of Systematic Theology who arrived from England recently, nearly lost his life in the ill-fated "Athenia," and, previous to that, in the Yokohama earthquake of 1923.

The torpedoing retarded his arrival considerably and was a nerve-wracking experience, but it gave him, he said, a splendid opportunity to study the reactions of the other passengers and to notice the striking way in which the ordinary person rose to the occasion. There was no panic or hysteria and no shoving to get into the boats. Almost everyone had the presence of mind to don their life-belts and take some warm piece of clothing along.

"I, myself," he explained, "happened to be fully clothed at the time of the torpedoing, and when the lights suddenly went out, I took my family in hand, and groped our way upstairs to our life-boat. We got off safely in the second boat at our station, and, after some unpleasant hours, we were picked up by a Norwegian freighter and landed at Galway, Ireland. Thence, by way of Glasgow and Aberdeen, we finally arrived at Liverpool, where we boarded another boat, and, for the second time, set out for Canada."

Professor Cragg believes, however, that, although the "Athenia" incident was the more dangerous and terrifying, the Yokohoma earthquake was the more spectacular. At that time, practically all of Yokohama, and the, greater part of Tokyo was destroyed, and approximately 200,000 lives were lost. As is always the case with earthquakes, the fire which followed it did just as much, if not more damage than the quake itself.

Earthquakes are not an usual occurrence to Professor Cragg for he was born in Kobe, Japan and educated in the Public and High Schools there. He then went to Korea, and crossed Siberia to

DANCE TAKES PLACE IN UNION TOMORROW

The third informal dance of the season will be held in the Union Ballroom this Saturday evening. Blake Sewell and his ten piece orchestra will provide the music. Dancing will begin at nine o'clock and refreshments will be served later.

Bandleader Blake Sewell played at both of the informals which have already taken place at the Union. He has played also at both last fall's and this fall's football proms, at the Convocation Ball last spring, and for the last four summer seasons at the Hudson Yacht Club.

Tickets which may be obtained at the Union Tuck Shop will be sold at the price of $1.25 per couple. This includes the tax. The House Committee states that this dance is in accordance with its general policy of making the Union as attractive as may be to its guests.

EDITOR SPEAKS ON U.S. STAND

B. K. Sandwell Speaks to 300 Varsity Students

Speaker Holds World Federation Depends on Feelings of Majorities in Nations

Toronto, Ont., November 9. — (C.U.P.)—In speaking to three hundred students yesterday, Mr. B. K. Sandwell, editor of the Saturday Night, traced the refusal of the United States to enter the war to her realization that the nations which are participating in it, must engage in some sort of a world federation in which she is not prepared to enter.

"Are we, in Canada, prepared to accept limitations of our sovereign powers as regards immigration and trade?" asked Mr. Sandwell during his discussion of the problem of world federation. Such a federation, he pointed out, cannot be forced upon the nations of the world by one nation, but it must grow out of the feelings of a majority of the peoples of the nations.

One Objective to War.

Referring to the present war, the speaker said that the one universal objective of the war which is unquestionable, is the overthrow of the Hitler regime, and therefore the efforts of the allied forces will be in vain unless they achieve this aim. In his opinion, there is little in this regime to arouse hatred except Hitler himself, his appearance, and his utterances.

Canada's attitude in the present war Mr. Sandwell found to be "singularly sane and intelligent," and more grown-up than that held

R.V.C. HISTORICAL SOCIETY GATHERS

Papers Presented to Club On Churchill and Chamberlain

The first meeting of the R.V.C. Historical Club was held last evening at 768 Sherbrooke Street. Mercy Kellog, the President presided, and Gladys Cotterell was elected as Secretary of the Club.

In the absence of Frances Cox, Betty Cooke read a paper on Winston Churchill, tracing his rise into the field of politics, and giving an account of his military accomplishments. He fought with the Spanish army in Cuba, and in India, and also took an active part in the Boer War. In 1911, he became First Lord of the Admiralty, a position he again holds today. Besides his military and political activity, he devoted time to writing and painting. The paper was supplemented by excerpts from Churchill's book, "My Early Life".

The second paper on Neville Chamberlain was presented by Mary Hudson. This contained a sketch of his character, his general policies, and the way in which these policies were carried out, in spite of criticism and opposition.

The meeting was followed by a short discussion, and refreshments were served.

Prof. James To Address McGill Grads at Toronto Banquet Saturday Nite

Noted Economist to Discuss Modern Economic Problems

Western Ontario Graduates' Society Host to New Principal

Professor Frank C. James, Principal-elect of the University, will address the McGill Graduates' Society of Western Ontario, at their annual banquet in the Royal York Hotel in Toronto tomorrow night following the McGill-Varsity Football game. This is in continuance of the policy of allowing as many graduates as possible to meet and hear the new principal. Dr. James also addressed a group of graduates in Ottawa earlier in the week.

The address which Professor James has planned to make will be in the nature of an informal talk on general economic problems and will serve to introduce the new principal to the McGill graduates residing in Toronto and vicinity.

Upon his arrival in Toronto tomorrow morning, Professor James will be met by members of the Graduates' Society and taken on a drive of introduction to the Queen City. Following a luncheon at which he will be the guest of honour, the new head of McGill will attend the game at Varsity Stadium and later in the evening will proceed to the annual Graduates' Society banquet.

Because of the comparative unexpectedness of the announcement of the appointment of Professor James as successor to Dr. Lewis Douglas whose retirement as Principal takes effect at the end of December, it is expected that a large number of the graduates of the Toronto region will be on hand to hear the famed economist's views on the economic problems confronting the world today.

MIDDLEBURY AT McGILL DEBATE

McGill Represented By Daly and Wilfong

Glee Club to Present Several Songs As Feature

The McGill Debating Union will play host to a visiting American team for the first time this year, on November 13, at 9 p.m. in the Union. "Our guests are a strong team from Middlebury and a keen battle is in the offering", was the opinion expressed by Horace Baugh, President of the McGill Debating Union. McGill is to be represented by two veterans of the debating platform with inter-faculty and intercollegiate debating experience, namely Tom Daly and Archie Wilfong.

The McGill Team will uphold the affirmative "Resolved that it would be in the best interests of the United States to enter the present War on the Side of Great Britain", while Middlebury upholds the negative.

Glee Club Present.

A feature of the evening will be the presentation of several songs by the Glee Club. This is the first time Debating Union and the Glee Club have co-operated to present a joint program. This effort sets an example of co-operation among McGill Clubs and might well be followed up by others to promote a spirit of fellowship among them, the executive said.

The Debating Union is expecting a large turn-out when the American and Canadian teams clash, indicative of the lively interest shown in debating this season.

Cosmos Bathe Before Dance At North "Y"

Club Features Splash Party with Refreshments

By E. W. and F. C.

Flash!!! Splash !!! Rushing madly through the "swinging" doors the "jitterbug" members of the Cosmo Club, piling into the North Branch "Y", began their evening with a flourish.

The exceptionally good turnout was at first entertained by the "Ukrainian Mandolin" Orchestra, which played two marches, plus the "Beer Barrel Polka"—(McGill Band please take note). Dancing then commenced to the strains of the continuous Nickolodian, in a series of "Sadie Hawkins," "Paul Jones," and "Cinderella," in addition to the ordinary type of dancing.

From there, your reporters went down to "cover" the swim, where the budding Tarzan and the Cleopatras (minus permanents) prepared for the big splash of the party. The frolicsome bathers engaged in various stunts, one girl doing a handstand dive, remarking as she went down "This is just another dive for me." The "capercutters" of the campus (the Engineers) created such a big

TALK ON UNICORN GIVEN TO RVC-ITES

Dr. Kathleen Terroux Gives Illustrated Talk to Science Women

The R. V. C. Science Club held its second meeting and tea in the Common Room yesterday, with a record-breaking attendance of nearly fifty women undergraduates.

Dr. Kathleen Terroux gave a talk on the Unicorn. She pointed out that he could only be regarded as a semi-zoological specimen, and described the early superstitions connected with his horn. She told how, during the Middle Ages, these horns were brought to Europe by Danish sailors and sold at fabulous prices as antidotes to poison, because of the magical powers attributed to them.

Dr. Terroux illustrated her talk by showing one of these horns to the Club. It was the horn of the great Sea-Unicorn, and was ten feet long, weighing between thirty and forty pounds. Scientists for the last two centuries have recognized it as the tooth of the Norwald, a species of whale that still inhabits the northern Atlantic, and whose "horn" is used as a spear by the Eskimos.

"If Ye Break Faith"

Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you, from failing hands, we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high!
If ye break faith with us who die,
We shall not sleep, though poppies blow
In Flanders' Fields.

—John McCrea.

Have we, or our fathers, broken faith?

Or are wars inevitable, inescapable things which occur periodically just like depressions, and are no more to be avoided than such?

If not, who or what can put an end to them forever?

How many wars will have to be fought before what we call democracy is firmly established upon the earth?

And how long will it remain once it has been firmly established?

When will the next Armistice be signed?

How many of us will live to see that day?

How just will the new Peace be?

Will it establish another League to accomplish a more lasting peace than that which followed Versailles?

Supposing a new League is established, what surety have we that it will bring about the Parliament of Man referred to by the Poet of the Victorian Age?

Even if peace is granted us for a few decades, will our international problems, our economic and social problems, and our national problems be any the less complex then than they have been for the last twenty years?

Or is eternal peace undesired and uncherished, a state in which men have nothing to strive for, and no fire to light upon the earth?

These, and many more, are the questions that many of us may find ourselves asking tomorrow, the first celebration of Remembrance Day in time of a new war. Cynical they are, but haven't we a right to be cynical when we contemplate that our country is engaged in fighting another war for exactly the same reasons as she fought the last one? The saddest thing of all is that we actually won the last one; why, if we had lost in our fight for democracy, we might well be justified in renewing the battle, but we actually WON. For what breaking of faith are we destined to go through it all again?

Throughout the ages, men have fought for freedom—the Greeks against the Persians, Christendom against the Turk, the French people against their government, the American colonists against the British, and so on in more recent times. At times, freedom and all that it stands for has conquered; at times it has been defeated. One point remains: from the dawn of history, whenever their freedom has been threatened, men have thought it worthy of their very lives to defend it. So, setting aside the question of past blunders and future problems, if in truth we are fighting freedom's battle, let us, on this twenty-second November 11, look forward to the day when we can re-echo that timeless phrase once again, "Ours the Victory".

And, far ahead, dim tramping generations,
Who never felt and cannot guess our pain,—
Though history count nothing less than nations,
And fame forget where grass has grown again—
Shall yet remember that the world is free.
It is enough. For this is immortality.

—R.V.

In Amongst the News

It really never works when an attempt is made to contort, to squeeze a situation, supermount it on a previous one and then with a sign and a "you see, it is exactly the same," procede to seek a cure. Stubborn little edges insist upon peering out from underneath, hard little knots make bumps and soon the new situation looks neither like the old nor yet like itself. We fear that Queen Wilhelmina and King Leopold have been similarly illusioned when they proposed to be mediators in the present conflict. Although they are to be lauded for their civilized suggestion yet it is quite clear that its chances for success are very slim indeed. In 1914, perhaps the blustering Kaiser could have been halted with compromises. In 1939 Herr Hitler couldn't be stopped with anything short of submission (even Mr. Chamberlain will agree after his all-fated policy of appeasement). However, Queen Wilhelmina and King Leopold have achieved the status of serious competitors for the Nobel Prize award. Nevertheless, we still bet on President Roosevelt.

Their has been considerable speculation and controversy as to whether Herr Hitler is planning an offensive on the Western Front. It has been suggested that this war will be a prolonged and almost exclusively trade war; others, insisting that Germany cannot withstand a long period of warfare, claim that the Nazis are planning to uaunch a major attack on the Western Frontier. A German Colonel-General is reported to have said:

"Only the Fuehrer knows whether we will launch a western attack." It is indeed gratifying to learn that others besides ourselves are expressing ignorance of German tactics. . . .

For months we have been trying to discover the secret of the mutual attraction between the Nazis and Colonel Lindbergh. WE have considered the "magnetism" of Arian idealogy, Herr Hitler's personal charm and even the Nazi planes. We admit that we are completely stumped, unless of course our last clue proves to be fruitful—the similarity of their symbols! Could it be that they first recognized their kinship in their respective title "German Eagle" and "Lone Eagle"?

War, motives, duration are words so commonly heard that we cannot resist the temptation of using them all in our column. France and England are now publishing joint memorandum in which will be stated their motives and aims in the present war. The publication is expected to be ready in two weeks. It is therefore safe to predict that the war will last for another two weeks at least. —B. L.

The Ford "Sandwich". . .

Some time ago one of the American intellectual weekly magazines, in commenting on the Ford Sunday Evening Hour, referred to it as a musical sandwich, the meat of which was the regular intermission talk by W. J. Cameron, an executive of the Ford organization. The truth of this comparison is borne out by the fact that this weekly broadcast is no longer being carried in Canada; it was felt that the substance of Cameron's weekly speeches was not suitable for Canadian consumption under present wartime conditions. It is difficult to understand why a Canadian commentator cannot be substituted to fill in the short intermission period, so that Canadian listeners may still have the opportunity of hearing the performances of great music as well as the contributions of celebrated and proven soloists.

Those wishing to hear the broadcasts will have to find one or other of the American stations in the Columbia chain, conditions, of course, permitting. The soloist on Sunday will once again be John Charles Thomas.

Solo Saxophone on Philharmonic. . . .

The New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra delves into the new on Sunday afternoon, when for the first time in its ninety-seven years' history it will present a solo saxophonist on one of its regular subscription concerts. The soloist is Sigurd Rascher, who last month made his American debut with the Boston Symphony.

Rascher, of Sweedish-English parentage, studied the clarinet before taking up the saxophone. When he did turn to the saxophone, he was first a jazz player. But three years later he determined to devote his career to saxophone interpretations of serious music. He will play Debussy's Rhapsody for Saxophone and Orchestra and Jacques Ibert's Concertino for Saxophone and Orchestra. (CKAC at 3).

The Saxophone was invented by Adolphe Sax, a Belgian, around 1840 and was officially adopted by the French army bands in 1845. It hs been employed in the scores of many famous composers, among them Meyerbeer, Saint-Saens, and Richard Strauss.

One Year of "Information Pleas". . .

"Information Please", that witty and scintillating program in which "experts" are quizzed by the public instead of the usual procedure in which volunteers are made to feel foolish by smug inquisitors, enters its second year Tuesday night at 8.30 (CFCF). During the past year the editors of the program have received upwards of 750,000 letters with over three million questions from all parts of the United States, Canada, Great Britain, Mexico, Egypt, the Virgin Islands, the British West Indies, and Puerto Rico.

The personnel of the program will be the same as in the past: Clifton Fadiman, John Kieran, Franklin P. Adams (F.P.A.), and different guest "experts".

Here and There. . .

Rudy Vallee, on his first appearance as m.c. of the Charlie McCarthy broadcasts, will try to smoothe out the trouble between the monocled piece of lumber and his voice, Edgar Bergen. (Sunday at 8—CFCF). . . . More Metropolitan Opera aspirants will be heard on the "Auditions of the Air" Sunday at 5.30 (CFCF). . . . Les Concerts Symphoniques, under Wilfrid Pelletier, will present works by Mozart and Rachmaninoff Tuesday at 10 p.m. . . . Fanny Brice and Edward Arnold will be heard in another broadcast of the Good News of 1940 series (Thursday at 9—CBM). . . . Walter Huston and Jimmy Durante will go from the sublime to the ridiculous on "The Pursuit of Happiness", Sunday at approximately 4.30. . . .

Proclamation

REMEMBRANCE DAY recalls the courage and sacrifice of the past. It bids us reconsecrate ourselves to the nation's highest service, in whatever field our duty lies.

Shortly before Their Majesties' visit, the Mayors of Canada passed a resolution calling for Moral Re-Armament as the need of the day.

The world-wide response showed a world-wide need; and war has intensified that need.

In time of war our homes require this kind of spirit to enable them to bear its anxieties, as well as to give them a lasting unity and purpose.

Such a spirit will make for co-operation in industry and throughout the whole nation. It will make us eager to put national interest before personal security and personal profit.

With a sense of individual responsibility, we shall achieve true economy of manpower, money, and national effort.

The morale of the people and the health of the fighting services will be at their best. Furthermore we need no longer accept as inevitable the moral casualties of war.

The two minutes' silence on Remembrance Day forms a link with the dead. It can also link us with the future and with life.

On this day, while remembering our glorious dead, let us use these two minutes to seek God's Plan and to find out how best to serve Him, our King, and our Country.

Recognizing our own faults and our own failures, let us set ourselves to put right what is wrong in our own lives and so help to free our country from greed, fear and hate.

Then we shall truly honour those whom we recall to memory today. Then we can build the sort of world they died to bring about.

GOD SAVE CANADA
GOD SAVE THE KING

Issued by the Mayors of Canada under the auspices of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

November 11th, 1939.

LUCY OR THE CASE OF THE CRAZY COLLEGIAN

She dwelt among well trodden ways,
Inside the R.V.C.;
A maid who has for several days
Been going out with me.

A sunflower by a mossy stone—
A full load for the eye!
But bright as moon, when stars alone
Are shining in the sky.

She lived well known, and all will know
When ceases she to be;
For she will flunk in May, and, so,
Some peace at last there'll be.

THE ODD-ESSAY

OUR FRIEND, THE BULL

Ever since the birth of Moses which dates those historically famous bulrushes which today we call stampedes, people have been acutely bull conscious. They have sung about them and their charms in Carmen, have studied their psychology and the response to certain stimuli and written up their results in that famous book "Ferdinand." Even the constellation Taurus depicts a bull, if that is any consolation to the many stars of the screen who have bullys for husbands, according to their grounds for divorce. In fact, so tremendous is the bulk of literature on our past or ol' friends that I have found it wise to give a brief resume of my readings in numerous bulletins.

In appearance, this animal has a stalwart bulled. He has the neck and shoulders of a great football player but is hindered in the pursuit of this fine sport by the size of his tummy. Nevertheless, this is a blue-ribbon feature at the Live Stock Shows, and I have known owners who have fed their entrants several bottles of Pabst's Blue Ribbon Beer beforehand, just to insure success, as this causes gas to form and thus inflates their bellies to noble proportions. But this is a little tip that the stock markets don't like known, so mum's the word.

As far as the other bumps in a bull's anatomy, I'm not quite sure where they come—Now if it were a cow it'd be in the bag! Or if a horse, it'd be a cinch! But a bull is definitely another problem. To use a stock phrase, how cud it be otherwise?

Now typical bulwark, and I believe the C.O.T.C. will agree with me, is quite some job. Of course I'll admit that many of our bovine friends use it merely as a defense mechanism, but a conscientious bull does his work from a sense of duty and would not think of going to sleep on the job. In other words, the most disgusting figure in a Bull's eye is a bulldozer—and here a bull's ethics diverge from those that make a good soldier. Even a bullhead realizes that if a bull et Skunk Weed or anything else as hateful he'd die. But then, their philosophy is sometimes hard to understand, especially when we see red. In this respect our make-up is much like that of the fighting bulls. I shall skip the gory details this involves (or should I say Gorring?) Gorsh! I'm about as muddled as Ferdinand.

I see I've bullied you quite enough and would much rather see you as contented as possible. So Carry Nation will leave the Carnation hour to those who like to sit under Cork trees and sniff the flowers (the blooming idiots!)

STUDENT FELLOWSHIPS TO ENGLAND POSTPONED

Cambridge, Mass.—Due to the European war, this year's competition among American college students for the Charles and Julia Henry Fellowships for study at Oxford or Cambridge has been indefinitely postponed Jerome D. Greene, one of the American trustees of the fellowships, announced yesterday.

These awards, of 500 pounds sterling each, were established by the bequest of Lady Julia Lewisohn Henry "in earnest hope and desire of cementing bonds of friendship between the British Empire and the United States."

"In view of the possibility that hostilities might cease before the end of the current academic year," Greene added, "the trustees will in the meantime register the names of any persons who wish to be regarded as possible candidates for a Henry Fellowship for 1940-41."

Of the seven Americans awarded the fellowships for the current year, only Ray S. Cline '39, of Terre Haute, Indiana, is definitely known to have taken up his fellowship; he is at Oxford.—Howard Crimson.

RIBBENTROP RHYME

Improvised at a luncheon attended by diplomats, what was described as a new "Mother Goose" rhyme swept Washington quickly. Author undisclosed, it was as follows:

"Ribbentrop, Ribbentrop, where have you been?
I've been to Moscow to see Stalin.
Ribbentrop, Ribbentrop, what did you there?
I dined with some Jews and got hugged by a bear!"

—Gateway.

"Neon, argon, xenon, krypton—
These," the Chem Prof. said,
"Are all inert; we now go on
To bismuth, tungsten, lead;

"Fluorine, bromine, silicon,
Cobalt, nitrogen . . ."
And students clapped the ending on
With, "Sold, American!"

Correction Re Junior Prom.

To the Editor of the McGill Daily.
Sir:—

In Thursday's "Daily," in the article on the Arts '41 Luncheon Meeting this sentence occurs: "It was decided that the Junior Prom would be held as usual despite the situation." This gives the impression that this important decision was taken at that meeting by the class, whereas, in fact, the matter had been settled by the Students' Council some two weeks before.

As some misunderstanding has already occurred, I would like to point out that apart from the name, the only connection that the Arts Junior class has with the Prom is that the Arts representative on the Prom Committee, which includes all faculties, is chosen from this class.

Yours sincerely,
ALEX STALKER,
Arts Representative, Junior Prom Committee.

Ed. note:—We regret the mistaken report; what was meant was that the Arts representative to the Junior Prom committee would be appointed as usual.

This is such a charming story, the kind grandmothers tell their grandchildren.

There was once a little gnat, that flew from flower to flower, satisfied with itself, happy to be alive and to be able to play in the sunshine.

On day it was so intoxicated with the lavender emanating from the fields that it did not see a big cow. The big cow opened its huge mouth, and the little gnat flew in, but it was so absentminded, poor thing, that it did not even notice it. It continued to flutter about with the same lack of concern, first in the cow's throat, then in the oesophagus, then further and further in the cow's innards.

Finally, however, it felt tired; it stopped flying about and rested in the cow's stomach. But it was so tired, that it soon fell asleep.

And when it woke up, the cow had gone!—Vu, Paris.

"You look sweet enough to eat,"
He whispered soft and low.
"I am," said she, quite hungrily,
"Where do you want to go?"

"How do you do?"

A conventional greeting, but we suggest that it may have a much deeper significance. How do you do? Are you well—are you really well? Perhaps of late you have not been feeling quite up to par.

May we suggest a complete physical inventory? Why not go, someday soon, to see a competent physician? A call on him now may forestall serious trouble later.

Grid Squad Tangles with Varsity

LAST TILT OF YEAR OFFERS CHANCE FOR REVENGE; TEAM RESOLUTE TO EVADE CELLAR

DEFENCE IMPROVED

Team Intact Except For Foster and Tabah

EXPECT TIGHT BATTLE

Coach Doug Kerr Hopes For Errorless Finale

As grim and determined as before any Championship tilt the Senior Redmen are looking forward to a hardy battle with the Toronto outfit tomorrow afternoon at the Varsity stadium.

At the last training table of the year held at the Union last night, Doug Kerr gave the boys a short pep-talk and carefully reviewed various aspects of attack and defence.

According to Coach Kerr the game is a toss-up. Weather shouldn't have much to do with the outcome but it is hoped that the Varsity Stadium isn't as frozen as the home field, for tackling on hardened ridges of mud adds more than a slight dose of danger to the game.

Team Almost Complete.

Of the original line-up only two of the boys will be missing: Foster and Tabah. Bartram and Telford have recovered from their injuries and will be out tomorrow.

Judging from other games a great deal of forward passing is expected from both sides. As far as the Reds are concerned it is regrettable that their one dependable passer, Hamilton, is partially incapacitated with a thumb injury, and although he will probably do most of the heaving, his control isn't what it might be under other circumstances.

McGill's passing defence is, according to Doug Kerr, perfect on paper—in battle, however, it seems as though the boys aren't on their toes quick enough to cover those receivers. To this Kerr attributes many of the forwards successfully achieved by opposing teams this season. It is hoped though, in McGill circles, that the men will be covered this time, and the passing defence thus prove effective.

The game is unimportant as far as the title situation is concerned, but to McGillians it is question of moral satisfaction. "From title to cellar" is something they are determined to prevent.

Harriers Defend Crown In Intercollegiate Meet

McGill Favoured To Capture Fourth Consecutive Title—Berman And Peters Expected To Star

McGill's Red Harriers are expected to meet up with some mighty stiff opposition in the quest of their fourth straight Intercollegiate Harrier pennant when they face Ontario Agricultural College, Toronto Varsity, and R.M.C. this Saturday. The meet is scheduled to get under way at 11.30 a.m. at Kingston with R.M.C. playing host.

Last Saturday at the Middlebury event McGill managed to come a close second, being edged out by Dartmouth by a mere six points, and this against a first class team.

This year the event will be run over a track five and a half miles long; that is, half a mile longer than it has been in the past. The course begins with a steep climb into the country surrounding R.M.C., and ends up with three laps around the track. Though the home team has the advantage of knowing the course far better than any of the visiting team, McGill is hoping to carry away the title. O.A.C. should, if all predictions prove correct, furnish the best opposition. Last year O.A.C. finished second to McGill's first and is prepared to go all out in an attempt to reverse that result. McGill's team will consist of Lloyd Cooke, Joe Berman, Glen Cowan, Paul Peters and Reid Hyde. The entire team is well experienced, and with the exception of Hyde, all have been in previous intercollegiate competitions.

Cooke, whom many consider one of the best distance runners in Canada, will bear close watching by the other teams and stands a better than even chance to win the race. All in all, this meet promises to be one of the most interesting and closely contested events in recent years.

POLOISTS LOSE IN FAST GAME

Y.M.C.A. Wins Game At Home Pool

Soper, Purdie Shine in Hard-Fought Game

At nine last night, in the beautiful Y.M.C.A. pool before a big audience, the McGill Junior Water Polo team played hard to a defeat by a faster-swimming Y.M.C.A. team. Losing by a score of 5-3, most of which was piled up against them in the third period, the Redmen nevertheless showed better form than in the last few weeks. A full team turned up for the game, and though the absence of Pedvis was felt, the team worked very well.

The "Y" showed their faster style in the first period, but also revealed inaccuracy and a lack of organization which they did not remedy un-

Wednesday evening last proved interesting and invigorating for the R.V.C. badminton players, when they held their initial meeting of the season. If as much interest is shown in subsequent get togethers, these Wednesday evening matches will probably become a regular item on the agenda of the Badminton Manager. Twenty coeds turned out and were very anxious to know when and where the next Badminton evening would be held. It must be remembered that the Badminton club is not solely for the benefit of expert players but that it is a means of improving the game of everyone in R.V.C., and of providing the opportunity of playing to everyone who is interested. The majority of those who turned out last Wednesday were newcomers, of whom Lillian Swindon, Dorothy Strong, Barbara Mercer, Mary Hall, Marian Ferguson, and Sheila Mingie, showed very promising form. Incidentally the Upper Hall is available every evening in the week for those of you who wish to practice for the organized matches.

Practising has been going on at a great rate in R.V.C. for the past few weeks, and today the coed cagers will hold their first game in R.V.C. at 5 p.m. The teams that will be competing are M.S.P.E. vs. Seniors, and First Year, vs. Sophomores. Last year M.S.P.E. carried away top honours winning the trophy which they hadn't held since 1924, and they will probably give some excellent exhibitions of caging in their effort to retain this coveted honour. With the commencement of their intramural schedule today, the R.V.C.-ites hope to get their University League games started towards the end of this month, and really get the Bas-

ENGLISH RUGBY SQUAD TACKLES QUEEN CITY XV

Whitelaw and Hessey-White Star for McGill

TEAM LEAVE TODAY

Several Changes in Home Team Noted

Wearied and worn, battered and torn, McGill's English Rugby squad entrain for Toronto this afternoon where they will clash with the Varsity fifteen at Varsity Stadium tomorrow in the second of a two-game total point series for the Intercollegiate title. Down three points, as a result of an 11-8 defeat two weeks ago, the Red fifteen will carry a revamped squad to the Queen City in an effort to wrest the title away from the Blueboys. The game is the first of a double-header at the Stadium, preceding the McGill-Varsity Canadian Rugby tussle, and will start at 12.45 p.m.

A few changes have been made following the Varsity defeat, due to injuries and other circumstances. The brilliant Jack Whitelaw will be at his old position of fullback; Peter Hessey-White has been moved to standoff position where his deadly drop-kicking will add force to the attack. Hessey-White replaces Jim Tyhurst who has been moved up to fill the injured Jack Callahan's place on the forward division. Stuart, Mearns, Graves, McCallum and Argo, round out the quarters. The latter has turned prima donna, since his 80-yard try run against Westmount last Saturday. Covo will be back as scrum half.

Forward Changes

Besides Tyhurst the forwards include the aged and crippled Captain Ricker, Walsh, Rodney, Montgomery, Fay, Lunney, and Cleary. The latter replaces Clare Tanton, who is unable to make the trip. Cleary's speed will be an effective weapon against the lightning Toronto backs.

The team leaves Windsor Station at 3 p.m., the players are asked to be on hand at 2.45. Team members are reminded that women will not be tolerated on this trip, and are asked to leave their wives at home.

Grab foil and mask and jacket too,
Ignore the things you have to do,
Things to study, can't think when,
Things like writing "Foiled Again."

GOOD TURNOUT FOR WRESTLING

Red Men Train For Clash With Y.M.C.A.

Still Openings For Newcomers—Recruiting Marked So Far

McGill's Wrestling team is turning out every Monday, Wednesday and Friday in the High School Gym practicing their holds for the coming season.

Coach Frank Saxon announces that there has been a first class turnout of neophytes for the grunt and groan game. Since the boys are still engaged in the necessary conditioning exercises their mentor does not feel justified in making specific mention of stars for the coming year, for the present moment at least.

While there is a lack of experience on the team, for few of last year's outfit are returning, the coach says that he has one decided advantage in that the weights are widely distributed. This will enable the men to practice with wrestlers of their own weight.

A word as to the program ahead of the Red team. A meet has been arranged for the near future with the Central Y.M.C.A. outfit of which Frank Saxon is also the coach. This match should give the fans a chance to find out where their team stands. The date for the encounter has not been decided upon.

There is also some prospect of a match being arranged with the New Jersey State Teacher's College around the middle of January. The teachers have an engagement with St. Lawrence University in Canton, N. Y. on January 13 and want a little timely experience with a high calibre team before it. This will also be of use to the Red men who will be entering the last stretch of their training against the B. W. F. meeting in February, which is being held this year in Montreal. Parties are still in correspondence and nothing definite has been decided upon.

Although Frank Saxon has a wide variety of talent from which to choose this year's team, there are still plenty of openings for any would-be wrestlers who have not turned up as yet.

plays on McGill's part, helped the Redmen to shine in the second quarter. At first the Reds spoiled several good goal tries by hesitating so long with the ball that their fast opponents caught up with them, but later Gladwell and Rehder broke through nicely to score. In this period the Y.M.C.A. also showed improvement, and Soper was kept busy stopping a barrage of shots. He showed marvellous form, but one hard-driven ball got past him to leave the score at 2-1.

In the third quarter the Y.M.C.A. came into their own, and their attack smashed Red defences thoroughly to net them three goals. The McGillians played an up-pool game, leaving their defences weak, and failed to keep the ball under control. Purdie showed up to good advantage, and Soper made beautiful saves, but this could not stem the tide of defeat. Hard fighting by McGill kept the fourth period even, with each side tallying once, but in spite of this last quarter rally, the Y.M.C.A. retained the lead of two points which brought them victory.

Representing McGill were Hay, Fry, Soper, Rehder, Purdie, Pue-Gilchrist, Carter, Gladwell and Kingsland. The Y.W.C.A. players were MacSorley, Stephenson, Kaiser, Davignon, Varden, Ross, Hulet, and MacLelland.

ketball season underway. The Bronze Baby tourney to be held in Toronto this year is gradually approaching, and the coed cagers need all the practice and all the support they can get. We came second last year!

The R.V.C. bow benders culminated their outdoor activities with the announcement of the results of the Intercollegiate Telegraphic tourney and the Annual Outdoor Tournament. Margaret Eaton once more took top honours with a team total 200 points higher than last year, and Irene Smith was the highest individual scorer in the Annual event. Last year Irene Smith was the winner of the Indoor Tourney, and is now recognized as the Outdoor champion. Alicia Langley and Maryellen Rossiter marked up the next highest scores. Completing the meet yesterday afternoon at the Upper stadium the coed archers shivered for almost two hours in the cold northern blast, while the cold and wind did much to hamper their shooting. The scorekeeper found considerable difficulty in writing with iced ink.

Both Tuesday and Thursday saw first class turnouts at the Fencing meetings. Plans are still under way for competition with various clubs in the city but as yet nothing definite has been decided upon. The chief problem now is that of getting a team together. This should be solved in about three weeks time. The manager Margo Van Reet is very anxious to know whether those girls who came to the practices during the past week intend to continue, if so, they are kindly requested to let her know.

PROFESSOR GERALD CRAGG ON ATHENIA

Poland. After extensive travel through the countries of western Europe, he came to Canada to study at the University of Toronto. Mr. Cragg then returned to England to continue his education at Cambridge University, only to again return to Canada, this time permanently.

Professor Cragg's main hobby is the study of architecture. As a sideline he is interested in modelling, and in sculpture in general. The beautiful situation of McGill University appeals to him particularly, as well as the unity in character of the buildings. They give, he says, an impression of quiet competence, and a feeling that the university has not been put together, but has grown together.

Mr. Cragg, who is a former Scholar of Trinity College, Cambridge, and has studied at Westminster College, Cambridge, and at the University of Toronto, believes that on the whole, a college town is a better place to study in than a city, but that, of course, it depends on the individual.

Whatever McGill's achievements in other fields, declares Professor Cragg, its academic fame is widespread in England. Whenever anyone mentions that he is a graduate of a Canadian University, he is at once asked whether it is McGill, to them a university of great importance, and one which they consider equal to any in England.

one,' because he is afraid to fight and would influence other soldiers. He is unconvinced that he should fight and therefore should not be in the front line where men must give themselves 100 per cent. If there is compulsory training at McGill it will lower the standard of education. A few weeks ago France demobilized 100,000 men which is proof enough that men are not needed."

Following the debate there was a general discussion by all those present.

daily in Canada, and consequently the members of its staff behave like old men. They don't go in for Football, and things of that nature, like people on some of the American college papers. Recently, for instance the staff of the Harvard Crimson played the staff of the Princetonian. It was a great game and helped to relieve the monotony of rehashing and proof-reading. I can picture the 'Daily' staff, long beards and all, playing the staff of some other college publication. . . . say, pop, do they put out a paper at Vassar? . . .

GRAD STUDENTS TO HOLD DANCE

the last meeting announced that the badminton courts in the R.V.C. gymnasium will probably be available Saturday evenings to all graduates, and that teams will be entered in inter-mural basketball and hockey should sufficient interest be shown. The would-be-skiers elected a committee to investigate the possibility of renting a ski cabin for week-end visits to the Laurentians.

The next meeting of the Society will be held in conjunction with the dance at Strathcona Hall where further plans for the coming season will be presented.

Yesterday's meeting was under the chairmanship of John Dacey, the President of the Society. Approximately eighty-five members were present.

REVUE ANNOUNCES CHORUS TRYOUTS

meetings for the purpose of getting in touch with those who are likely to form this year's chorus. Anyone who would like to learn more about the Revue though not necessarily interested in purely chorus work is also cordially invited.

It is further announced that the post of music director is open. Any musicians who would like to write for the show even if they feel they have not the qualifications for a director, are welcome in the Union Ball Room at either of the above times, it was stated. For one who is doubtful of his ability to compose or arrange, but who can play Tea for Two and any waltz on the piano as an absolute minimum, there is also open the job of rehearsal pianist. Several Revue Producers have started as rehearsal pianists.

Even if as yet a skit has no form except in one's mind, it is not a bad plan to speak to one of the Revue executive about it, it was suggested by the producer. They will be on hand next Monday and Wednesday afternoons in an easily accessible place. The last minute skit may be just the thing to fill a lame gap, but it is a help if the producer knows from whom to expect his material.

ROTHNER TALKS ON EDUCATION

it. We take the same attitude in similar situations, so it is not safe to turn young people out into life with the wrong attitudes.

Dr. Rothney suggested two ways of forming attitudes. The first is that of passive influence, of living with people who have the desirable attitudes. And this is the most usual way, he stated it is part of our social inheritance. The second method is that of intelligent reflection on the experience that we have had. And the higher the intelligence the easier it is to acquire attitudes in this way, Dr. Rothney said. Attitudes thus come as the result of action. Both these methods are incorporated in the process of Education.

Certain Basic Attitudes.

"There are certain basic attitudes with which a young person should be equipped, they may be summed up briefly in his asking himself "What can I do here that will bring the most good to the most people for the longest time possible?" And his answer might be "I must live so that people will be glad that I am here."

An ideal is just the inside of an attitude. And Dr. Rothney claimed that just such attitudes as he had been recommending are the very basis of our democracy, and that with their universal adoption economic feudalism would pass away.

A more specific attitude to be cultivated is one of sympathy to change and progress, that of looking at change as normal. We do not wish existing conditions to remain static. Dr. Rothney suggested that it was such a lack in the "attitude" aspect of education that is making it so difficult for the present generation to resolve its problems.

Advised Tolerance

The speaker advocated tolerance, reminding his audience that every progressive idea was once in the possession of a minority.

Dr. Rothney urged his listeners to keep an open mind, and to do the right thing today so that we need not worry about tomorrow. In conclusion he said "If you are going to get more truth you must live up to the truth that you have and if you follow truth you are doing the best that can be done."

Dr. Rothney was introduced by Dr. Huskins, Head of the Genetics Department at McGill.

Called back by the strains of the Nickelodian your reporters revisited the dance-hall, where those who were able to resist the charms of the co-ed bathers were thoroughly enjoying themselves, despite the fact that the Plumbers eagerly clustered around the pool (and we don't mean "table," this time).

Munching the delicious biscuits prepared by the capable Cosmo-coeds your reporters regretfully left a most enjoyable "splash" where nobody dried up.

NOTICES

Notices must be in by 7 p.m. They will not be accepted over the telephone. "For Sale" and "Wanted" items will be considered as advertising and should be submitted to the Advertising Manager.
